FOREWORD

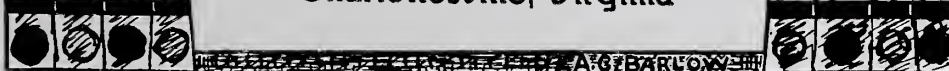

As Nature has endowed us with the happy gift of remembering only the pleasant Past, we give to you in the sixth link of THE CHAIN a few pages to make indelible the happy memories of our life at Charlottesville High School.

We will not repent
Of the time that was spent,
And the hours that were lent
 To arranging this book,
If, as years roll around,
And with age you are crowned,
Some pleasure is found,
 When in it you look.

The Cruise of 1924

The crew lifted anchor on leaving the shore,
Their journey alone was begun;
For the channel was now not so wide as before,
And the ships had to pass one by one.

Each man put to sea in a barque of his own,
And some headed north, others west;
But each fought the foam that led to the home
Of the work he was fitted for best.

One turned toward a shore from whence came the sound
Of the Old Masters' wondrous Sonatas;
And made men forget the worry and fret
Of their lives, by their great obligatos.

Another put out for a quieter beach,
Where the people were lying in pain;
As their bodies he healed, he thanked God for a field
Where his talents were not spent in vain.

Some laid down their oar and hastened to shore,
Where flowers were blooming so fair;
There no entrance of strife marred the beauty of life
For those dwelling in happiness there.

Then each went his way, to perform the next task
That came to his hand anywhere;
And honor he bore to the Class of '24
By serving mankind everywhere.

The Class of 1924

(From a Senior's Notebook)

APPARATUS:

School building and its accessories, competent teachers, playgrounds, athletic field, Armory and Y. M. C. A.

MATERIAL:

About 160 very elastic and pliable pupils ready to be molded into men and women worthy of taking their places in all ranks of life.

PROCEDURE:

a. First Step.

On our entrance into High School we examined ourselves to determine just what components we were made of and the reaction was that Miss Page Bird was designated to be our leader in our research work for the year.

We advanced rapidly and our chief difficulty was to find our proper classes at the right time. For a while it looked as if we had been experimenting with alcohol, judging by the manner in which we danced from room to room (like the molecular motion). It is true that we Freshmen were as fresh as the so-called fish, but we kept some of it down by the diligent application of salt and reducing agents. Thus we did not go astray or lose our strength by exposure to the air.

b. Second Step.

Our first act at the beginning of the semester was to make an analysis of our class which was now about 140 strong, and Jack Henshaw was given control and leadership for 1921-22. We made satisfactory progress with the silver-like strains of "Old Charlottesville High" leading us to greater heights. Perhaps we were slightly rusty after our three months' vacation, but when we once succeeded in getting the carbon cleaned out of our engines we felt that our teachers no longer received the impression that our heads were platinum-lined vacuums. We were approaching the age when most of us could see the radium-like symbol of education shining before us and we worked out formulas by which we could follow up its advantages and in years to come carve our names in the Hall of Fame. (It is sad but true that most of ours are already carved in the Detention Hall.) Our education was gradually undergoing a series of polishings and our rough spots or impurities were being removed by the sandpaper of experience.

c. Third Step.

In the fall of '22 when we reassembled we found that we were now about 120 strong. After a lengthy discussion, "Slim" Walsh was hit upon as the one man in the world to wield the baton. Shortly after this he left school and Clifford Dawson was sent in as a substitute. Did somebody say "Mutt and Jeff"?

Some of our boys had increased in density (of body, not mind), strength, height and vitality, and we became recognized in both football and basketball. The girls of our class also won letters in the cage game, and with Mary Gochnauer and Martha Lee winning the scholarship pennant methodically, we commenced to feel proud of ourselves. Thus ended our third step in the process of education. Again we left for a short sojourn under other atmospheric conditions.

d. Fourth Step.

In the final reaction we chose as our leader Dean Quarles, a combination of wit, ability and athletic prowess. During this year we furnished the nucleus around which winning combinations in athletics were built. We had several members who took an active part in the competition for the scholarship banner and who gave quarter to no one. And who would deny that the Class of '24 furnished the basic elements in the life of the Literary Societies and the Publications? Our fame as actors will never die since the memorable performance of "Clarence" and "The Charm School."

During these four years many of our worst kinks have been gently but firmly ironed out, and the process of our High School Education has finally been finished. As we leave we are glad to think that others take our places and year after year this replacement goes on and on.

Prophecy

DAYS have come and days have gone and we are in the midst of the year of our Lord 1933. The place is the forest of Alaska and it has been a long time since I've heard from the Class of '24. But Father Time and Brother Fate have promised to look them up for me and drop by with the good news to-night. I sit trying to while away the time until their arrival. I am having little success in amusing myself when I hear footsteps on the front porch and run to the door without waiting for them to knock. Father Time has a funny twinkle in his eye and by that I know the news is good. After inquiring about Father Time's gout and Brother Fate's children, I finally get them started on the story.

This story was even more interesting than the novels of Mary Goch-nauer, who ranks high among the novelists of the present day. Dean Quarles, president of the Class of '24, is sole owner of the Crozet Sardine Factory where Gregory Magruder, Francis Harmon and Stuart Fitzhugh turn out that delicious fruit for him. Jo Culin is drawing cover designs for Snappy Stories. Johnnie Griffith is posing for Stetson Hat advertisements. (Oh, the cute lil' side-burns!) Forrest Burch, dubbed "Sheik" by the gang, has just finished his masterpiece, "The Art of Love Making." Catherine Swart is clerking in A. M. Posey's Department Store, where Jimmy Leitch, with his cunning little mustache, is floor-walker. Clifford Dawson has just got out a patent on an invisible saw, which Mr. Lacy's pupils now ride in class without being seen. Helen Sadler, Gladys Hamm and Virginia Cochran are with the Zeigfield Follies now owned by Bill Gaw and Herndon Shepherd. Bertha Cleland, who was always a picture of health, is Advertising Manager for the Fleischman's Yeast Company.

I was more than glad to hear that Harold Barnes was a captain in the army after such strenuous drill in "Clarence," and has Harry Baptist and Claude Estes in his company. Hugh Murphy and Claude Burgess own a pawn shop, which is a huge success. George Johnson is coaching Princeton's basket-ball team this year. What a team! Cullen Wiant is Editor of the Police Gazette. Charles Andrews is a doctor, and owns stock in Pollard Staley's Hospital, where Marian Trevillian and Evy Wheeler are nurses. Anna Durrer and Edna Wingfield own a Beauty Shop and Elizabeth Gaw a Pretzel Factory at Simeon, where Joe Shumate has achieved greatness as a Chiropractor. Carl Stacey has taken charge of Paul Whiteman's string of Orchestras and is directing them. "Shorty" McCue, the horticulturist, has just discovered a method by which the milkweed and the oyster may be crossed to produce oyster stews. Lindsay Laterneau has a store at Mechums River, where he sells dry goods, hardware, horehound candy and tonics for man and beast. Elizabeth Allen has the honor of being the first woman traffic cop of Charlottesville. It was rumored that she had already arrested Sam Zimmerman for speeding up Vinegar Hill.

On the outskirts of civilization Mary Riddle and Pauline Harlow are missionaries, who do much to aid little Eskimo children with frozen ankles. Elva Leake and Lucile Eastham have opened a Girls' Finishing School, in which Latin and Etiquette are the only subjects taught. Elizabeth Purvis is the matron in the city jail. According to my expectations, Margaret Pinkerton has distinguished herself as a poet, and also, as I expected, Virginia Williams on account of proficiency in demonstrating the qualities of Wrigley's Gum, has been made their chief sales-manager. Isadore Wilkins and Mary Brown have established a harness shop to make saddles for the boys to ride their ponies through Yale. Margaret Arundale is secretary to John Justice, a financier of Wall Street. Evelyn Harris is proprietor of a soft drink foundry, where Virginia Burgess is the most capable dispenser. Charlie Mason Perkins owns a ferryboat on Schent's Branch and whittles sticks in her spare time. Abe Kobre owns a Ten-Cent Store in which Edythe Adams and Elizabeth Elliott are clerking. Kathlyne Croissant and Lucie Baber wield heavy rolling pins. I was shocked to hear that Marian Dabney is with Keith's Vaudeville in Atlantic City.

At this point Brother Fate pulled a newspaper out of his pocket and on its front page I saw that Hilda Blue had distinguished herself as a Senator and was a candidate for the first Woman President. Also I read of Addie Alexander, who is aiding Pussyfoot Johnson in trying to make England dry. Among the personals and advertisements I saw many familiar names. Helen

THE CHAIN

Maupin and Margaret McBride are touring the country and lecturing on "Health and the Home." Elizabeth Gordon and Elsie Butcher are agents for Palmolive Soap. Elizabeth Robey is the star actress in the Sunshine Comedies. Corinne and Cornelia Carter are demonstrating Gold Medal Flour. Ruth Davis and Lillian Gill are teaching school in Richmond and Dorothy Crawford is a music teacher at Basic City. Isabel Shaffer is selling the famous "Shaffer Hair Restorer" and has a good customer in Carlys Smith, who runs a barber shop. Mary Johnson is still at Midway, an honored member of the Faculty.

Such news makes a fellow want to get out and see the old gang, but Brother Fate and Father Time have conspired together and my destiny is fixed. I shall spend the rest of my life cutting wood in Alaska.

Last Will and Testament of the Senior Class

WE, the Senior Class of the Charlottesville High School, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four, pause for a moment's reflection ere we step out into the cruel, cold, hard world to face Life's stormy sea of troubles. And in consideration of the unlimited graciousness of the Faculty to us during our sojourn with them, do hereby make, execute and publish this, our Last Will and Testament.

To Dr. Johnson, our amiable Superintendent, we will a jar of greaseless hair groom and a Scotch plaid sport vest, which we hope will aid him in playing the role of Faculty Sheik; for intellectual improvement, a year's subscription to Whizz Bang, another trip to New York, all expenses to be borne by Trustees of the Jefferson School.

To Mr. Hayes, our jolly Principal, we will a book edited by Pat O'Brien on "Proper Jokes For Proper Times," two bright red neckties to wear and save wear on his Ford horn, and incidentally, an affectionate group of co-eds for his classes at U. Va. this summer, to make life seem more like "A Midsummer's Night Dream."

To Miss Moran, our conscientious Assistant Principal, we will a complete detective outfit, including a pair of rubber-soled, heelless sneakers, magnifying glass with extension handle, an adequate finger-print equipment, Pinkerton's Handbook, "The Detection of Juvenile Criminals," and a life membership in the Burns' Detective Agency. All of which, we sincerely hope, will aid her in her untiring efforts to establish, maintain and extend throughout the High School, a comfortable and luxurious Detention Hall for any incorrigibles who may be incarcerated therein.

To practical Mr. Lacy, we will assistance from Roudabush, and a Physics Class that does not drag its feet.

To lovable Miss Sheppe, this being Leap Year, we will a marriage license and the necessary accessories that go with it.

THE A-Z CHAIN

To misunderstood Mr. Bennett, we will a continuation of his permanent wave and a History Class which can interpret his questions.

To petite Miss Scribner, we will Walter Camp's records for the reduction of surplus flesh.

To gentle-voiced Miss Camper, we will three pebbles and a cave by the sea to which she may retire during storms, and, like Demosthenes, overcome the impediment in her speech.

To jazzy Mr. Mort, we will two sterling toothpicks, and the 1900 output of the Arrow Collar Company; also the position of Bass Drum Soloist in the Rio Municipal Band.

To healthy Miss Boaz, we will two interviews with Dr. Johnson, two trips to Covesville, two years of teaching, and then one husband ere it be too late.

To nightingale Miss Meredith, we will two more curls and then may she be the leader of the chorus girls' music box of the Follies of 1930.

To sound-sleeping Miss Bolen, we will an apparatus to stimulate movement in the left shoulder and arm.

To cake-eatin' Mr. Daniels, we will a comprehending Girls' Basket-ball Team, an intellectual Football team, and the kindest and best wishes of the Class of '24.

To athletic Miss Brown, we will a fair trial to explain why she and our beloved Coach appeared on St. Valentine's Day with black eyes.

To romantic Miss Sloan, we will a rubber-tired tricycle to be at her disposal during her vacant periods in order that she may propel herself more quickly and with less fatigue through the halls and rooms. Said vehicle to be housed in the Superintendent's office when idle.

To sedate Mrs. Fuller, we will a box of lemon snaps, a salt mackerel and two bags of peanuts. Also a continual reminder that all "A's" are broad as in "fawther."

To tired Mrs. Sanders, we will a dressing-room with four sides for use of the Players Club and the continued success of this organization under her motherly care and guidance.

To bossy Mr. Snapp, we will forty-four pounds of bright red chalk with which to inscribe his daily mottoes upon the board in Room 35. We have specified the color of red in order that they may be heard if not seen. Also a new fur-lined lunch box.

To obliging Mrs. Brown, we will an invisible veil and two pairs of purple shoe-strings.

To fussy Miss Eisenberg, we will at the request of Booth Tarkington, a period of nine months in which to stage the stupendous production, "Clarence." After this, we will her the position of chief curtain-puller at the New York Hippodrome,—extra pay for care of monkeys between acts.

To hopeful Miss Hankins, we will a mother-in-law.

To Frenchy Miss Sutton, we will another gold tooth and everlasting permanence to emotional facial expressions.

To Shorthanded Miss Dawson, we will the position of private stenographer to Doheny of the Sinclair Oil Corporation. This position is subject to "oil" the privileges and hard work of such a noble organization.

To the Junior Class, we will the privileges of being Seniors, and plenty of hard work.

We appoint as executors of our will, Herbert Henshaw and Aunt Lizzie, to carry out its terms after much thoughtful consideration by both.

Junior Class Poem

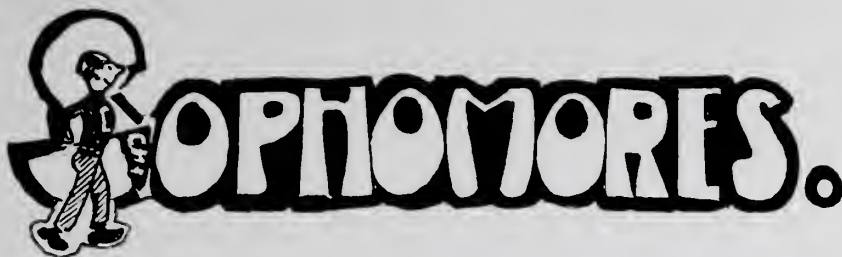

For three long years, with joy and tears,
We've tried to learn things new;
Tho' some have won, they've just begun
The work they have to do.

As we look back, we seem to lack
Our former fear for work;
While some are slow, all surely know
It does not pay to shirk.

For some have tried and some have cried,
But all for honors yearn;
'Tis true to-day, as they used to say—
"There's no royal way to learn."

The time is near; just one more year
We know 'twill be our last;
And here's a fact, we'll all look back
With joy upon our past.

The Spirit To Fight

We students of the Sophomore Class
Desire good grades, and wish to pass;
We'll strive, and work with all our might,
Reaching our goal, by the spirit to fight.

Why shouldn't we win honor and fame
'Though we only bear the Sophomore name?
We can, and we will! It is surely right
That one should win by the spirit to fight.

It isn't always easy to work,
Nor is it hard our duty to shirk;
We must have pluck and stick to the right,
Keep courage to win and the spirit to fight.

Since we have travelled half the way,
We know that we must work or pay;
And if we stick, there shines a light,
For those who win by the spirit to fight.

Freshman Poem

Listen, my children, and you will hear
Of a great tale of the Freshman Year,
Of how we came into High School,
Always in fear we'd break some rule,
Until our youthful hearts grew bold
In treading the paths of learning old.

Then listen again, and you will hear,
All the results of this Freshman Year.
Some of us passed and some of us failed,
Some of us laughed and some of us wailed;
And so we ended with only a few,
But these became Sophomores good and true.

Football

Football practice started September fifth with about thirty men reporting to our ever-reliable Mr. Daniels, whom we were very fortunate to have as our coach once more. Through the efforts of Mr. Pence and Mayor Joachim we were able to use our new athletic field and Coach Daniels put his men to work cleaning up, which at the same time limbered them up for the coming games.

For the first time in the history of the school, the team was fully equipped with regulation uniforms which were secured through the kindness of Mr. Eddins and the University G. A. A.

With seven letter-men back and plenty of material, the outlook for the season was very bright.

The first game was played September 29th on Lambeth Field against Clifton Forge; we emerged victorious by a score of 26-0, with all of the subs getting a chance. The following Saturday, October 6, we journeyed to Staunton and were defeated 18-0. On Friday, October 12, the team motored to Luray and on the following day defeated them 12-0. On Friday, October 18, St. Christopher's was met on Lower Lambeth and defeated to the tune of 7-0, this being the hardest fought game of the season, and the team displaying unlooked for ability. The Waynesboro-Basic game being unexpectedly cancelled, we were handicapped by not being able to get another game for this Saturday. Then, with a two weeks' lay-off we motored to Harrisonburg on November 2, and met defeat, 6-0, in a very closely contested game.

Upon the distribution of the October reports it was found that a large percentage of the team failed to make the required grades and were thus eliminatd from further practice. Thus the season came to an abrupt end. All in all, the team made a splendid showing, winning three out of five games and scoring a total of 47 points to their opponents' 24.

Girls' Basket-Ball Team

At the beginning of the Basket-ball season this year the girls felt that they could develop a team that would have more than a fighting chance of winning the State Championship, as they had three of last year's letter-men and a promising lot of new material to answer to the first call for practice. Mrs. Cheape took charge of the work until after the Football season and then Mr. Daniels took over the team and put them through some stiff practice. Games were played with the following high schools: Meriweather-Lewis, Crozet, Waynesboro-Basic, Harrisonburg, and Staunton, and old C. H. S. came out the victor in three of the five games in spite of the fact that their opponents as a whole were a great deal heavier. Just as the girls were beginning to feel that the Championship was within reach again a more formidable enemy than Great Bridge, in the shape of examinations, came along and so many of the team failed to make the required average for participation in athletics that they were forced to cancel all further games.

BOYS' BASKET-BALL TEAM

Basket-Ball

When basket-ball practice started in the latter part of November only two letter-men were in school, but from the material which reported for practice each afternoon a very creditable team was put on the floor for the first game. During the month of December, C. H. S. played four games and came out victorious in each contest. In nearly all these games two teams were used, and both proved their ability to score on their opponents.

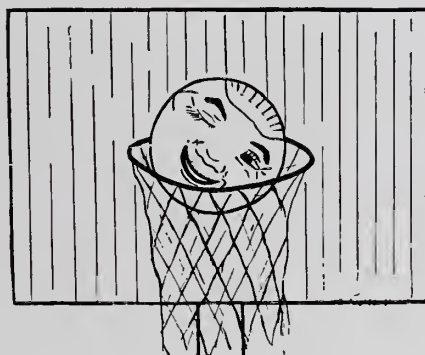

Just before the holidays, basket-ball prospects brightened when two more letter-men returned to school. In the next three games Charlottesville defeated Waynesboro-Basic, Shenandoah Collegiate Institute and Harrisonburg High School, respectively. The next week C. H. S. met the strong team of Fishburne Military School and was defeated by a score of 22-13. Charlottesville defeated Harrisonburg High and Scottsville Athletic Club in rapid succession, later meeting Covington on the local floor to decide the championship of the Western District of Virginia. C. H. S. won with the score standing 50-16. The team then met what is said to be one of the strongest "Prep" schools in the State, Benedictine College, and defeated them by a 41-19 score. C. H. S. next gave battle to the strong team of Lynchburg High, winning the game with the score 20-13, but losing to the same team the next week in Lynchburg, by a score of 14-11. With a score of 40-16 Charlottesville defeated Alexandria in a game to decide the championship of the Northern District.

Woodrow Wilson High of Portsmouth, after winning from Maury, came to Charlottesville and was defeated by the local team, in a hard fought game, by a score of 27-25. The quint then played Roanoke High for the State title on the Armory floor. When the whistle blew Charlottesville started with a whirl and the first quarter ended 10-2 in favor of C. H. S. Roanoke came back strong and scored eleven points to Charlottesville's two. The half ended 12-11 in Charlottesville's favor. At the start of the second half, Roanoke tied the score, but from this time on C. H. S. kept in the lead. At the end of the third quarter the score was 16-12 in favor of Charlottesville and the final score was 20-18, much to our delight.

THE CHAIN

To pick any one star of the game would be impossible, but the scoring of Bonavita, Leitch and Captain Lacy, the floor work of Swart and the guarding of Johnson were all that could be expected of any team. Each man has the satisfaction of knowing that by playing his part of the game, C. H. S. was enabled to win the cup.

Many things contributed to the unusual success of the basket-ball season. Much credit is due Coach Daniels for turning out such well-trained men and for his untiring efforts in making a team of which C. H. S. is justly proud. The determination and fight which the team has shown throughout the season backed by the spirit and support of the school as a whole, helped C. H. S. to win sixteen out of eighteen games, win the State Championship, and the right to represent the Old Dominion in the National Tournament in Chicago.

U. VA.-C. H. S. CLUB

The U. Va.—C. H. S. Club

(THE CHAIN Staff is very proud to have within the pages of the sixth link of THE CHAIN the names of our most representative Alumni Organization, and appreciates their loyal support of C. H. S. activities.)

The University of Virginia—C. H. S. Club was organized several years ago by the Alumni of C. H. S. for the purpose of stimulating interest in activities among the High School students. The Club has awarded medals each year to the two students who have done the most for the High School along Literary and Athletic lines. They have sent speakers to address the student body and have conducted assemblies, and in many ways have endeavored to show that they are backing C. H. S.

The C. H. S. Club, too, attempts to inspire, or rather to stimulate the desire of High School students to get a college education, and the fact that there are at present seventy-three members in the Club is indicative of its success.

C. H. S. is justly proud of her alumni, some of whom have won high places in scholarship and athletics at the University, and all of whom are proud of the fact that they once went to C. H. S. It is the sincere wish of the Club to help every High School organization in any way that it may, and to see our school rank among the best in the State.

FAMILY REUNION IN ROOM 35

Mr. Snapp, our sociable teacher, has always had a great desire to have all of his pupils assembled in their Home Room at one time. This life-long ambition was realized the other afternoon when every person on roll was enticed into Room 35 with the promise of bountiful eats. The exception was Miss Culin, who was wandering over the building looking for her glasses. While refreshments were being served, Mr. Snapp gave a short, touching talk in honor of the occasion. After which the pupils, led by Mr. Claude Estes, gave him three rousing cheers. All wept when Miss Jane McCue beautifully rendered that heart-stirring song, "Home, Sweet Home." Miss Elizabeth Gaw, Miss Ruth Davis and Mr. Clifford Dawson led in singing "The Star Spangled Banner," which was the last feature of the program. All expressed themselves as having had a very enjoyable time and wished that there might be more of these pleasant gatherings.

ELEGANT EVENING IN ROOM 36

The social season in C. H. S. reached its height when the occupants of Room 36 gave a delightful Kid Party. For the time being the room was cleared of desks, books and other unpleasant reminders of study. Miss Eisenberg, who had her hair bobbed for the occasion, headed the receiving line which consisted of Mary Riddle, Sam Zimmerman, Margaret Arundale and Hugh Murphy. The guests, as requested, appeared in children's apparel; and after being divested of caps, leggins, and mittens, were ushered to Room 36, where a chewing gum contest was held until everybody arrived. Edna Wingfield captured the prize, a framed motto, "Use your head in whatever way you can." Then everyone joined in the game of "Ring Around The Roses." Miss Eisenberg, however, considered this game a little rough for indoors, so "Pass the Button" was started. A friendly quarrel arose between Meriwether Price and Pollard Staley but as Meriwether seemed to be getting the best of it they had to be separated. After this excitement, things seemed a little dull so it was considered expedient to serve refreshments immediately. Accordingly, Gregory Magruder and Lindsay Laterneau appeared with a collection of vari-colored bibs, which they proceeded to tie under the Seniors' respective chins. Everyone seemed to enjoy the refreshments, which consisted of animal crackers and all-day suckers. After the last crumb had been consumed they began to depart, for most of them had been warned by their parents not to stay out later than nine o'clock.

CHEMICAL TERMS WHICH PUT MR. LACY INTO A TANTALUM

1. "You are a Base rascal," said the Sulfuric Acid as it was counteracted by the Sodium Hydroxide.
2. "I'm Platinum," said the young lady as she fixed her hair for the night.
3. "You are Silicon," said a young gentleman to Constance Page.
4. "Europium," said the cowboy to the Indian, "until I Caesium."
5. "Argon," said Cadmium, "lead the way." "I(o)dined on Iron to-day."
6. "Alpha rays's the deuce every time I Aluminate on a Faraday."
7. "Kerosene that the Nitrates were lower, so he went to the Lithophone and proceeded to Liebig."

EDITORIALS

LEAP YEAR

This is Leap Year. Pity the handsome boy! Just who holds the prize for having received the most proposals is not definitely known to Ye Editor, but Dean Quarles, Harold Barnes, Forrest Burch, Claude Burgess, Edward Jenkins and Freeman J. Daniels are among those having the highest score. It must be embarrassing to receive so many offers from the fairer sex. However, we cannot speak from experience since Ye Editor's physiognomy has saved him from all such trying predicaments. It is rumored that the cause of Ed. Gibson's leaving school was to escape the amorous glances of the young ladies.

With the young men in such a condition, shall we join in a song of thankfulness that Leap Year comes but once every four years?

OUR FRIEND, THE FIRE SIREN

Situated as we are near the fire house, the songs of the siren always disturb proceedings somewhat. These tunes are absolutely ear-racking and nerve-piercing. In the middle of Mr. Bennett's Civics Class, which is always so serious, one of these shock-absorbing shrieks causes our teacher to rub his infantile beard and tear his raven locks. We sincerely hope that this lady catches a deep cold or suffers a relapse, so that we can once more buckle down to the real work which we are so anxious to do.

AT THE THEATRE

The Weeping Willow

To-day:—“Puffed Rice” by Creme O' Wheete, a cereal picture of much pathos, featuring Senator Glorious Claude Swanson and Dare-devil Estes.

To-morrow:—“Grape-nuts” by K. Orn Flakes, a romance of Rural Lane, Rio; star cast including Senorita Sloan and “Knock-'em-cold Baptist.” Come and see this spectacular lard rendering show.

Pat Prices for both of these stirring dramas, 5c and 10c or three pins and a dish rag.

THE MIDWAY SETBACK

RADIO DEPARTMENT

The Editor of the Radio Department Wishes to Acknowledge The Receipt of the Following Letters

DEAR SIR:

I have succeeded in getting the radio bugs. My set was constructed by myself, therefore the refraction of its character is very simple. For my aerial I use my sister's electric hair curler, which puts quite a kink in the jazz music and causes my vacant tube to be flooded. Please advise whether I should use a triple-lined inner tube or a piece of glazed chamois skin for my condenser.

Very frequency yours,

JUICY DEAN.

DEAR SIR:

I have tried to construct a cat whisker detector which would tune in like that black one which sits on our back fence and whines "The Darktown Strutters' Ball," but I have been unable to ascertain her wave length. I hope to plug in on her sometime and smash her amplifier with a binding post; but like Benjamin Franklin, I never calculate upon my juvenile poultry before the proper process of incubation has been fully materialized. Please inform as to what results I must follow.

Yours till then,

I. C. BLINELY.

DEAR SIR:

Can you please tell me what is wrong with my slider? On foggy nights it sounds like the Serenade Nevadas, but, lo and behold, on clear nights it squeaks like a saw on a rusty nail. Should I buy a loop the loop, or a cream separator? If you can give me a boost in my predicament I will coil my affections around your battery.

Divinely yours,

JACK EARLY.

A TYPICAL ERROR

While we were typing the athletic reports, the chauffeur of our Underwood accidentally shoved in the reverse and put Harry George as Manager of the Girls' Basket-ball Team and Jane McCue as Manager of the Boys' Team.

LA MORT

We see the fights in the schoolroom
Not fought with feet and fist,
But fought with chalk and erasers,
While all of us squirm and twist.

We dodge and wiggle and scuffle,
But Fate gets the best of us all;
At the door is the face of a teacher—
And we land in Detention Hall.

PROPOSITION XIII

(C. H. S. Geometry)

Theorem. Teachers should not give time for chewing gum.

1. Mrs. Fuller and Mr. Bennett are teachers in C. H. S.

2. Pupil + gum + Mrs. Fuller = 40 minutes.

3. Pupil + gum + Mr. Bennett = 40 minutes.

4. Pupil + gum + Mrs. Fuller = pupil + gum + Mr. Bennett.

(Things equal to the same thing are equal to each other.)

∴ Mr. Bennett = Mrs. Fuller.

5. But Mr. Bennett + Mrs. Fuller = a row.

6. Man and woman never were equal in a row.

∴ Mr. Bennett is not equal to Mrs. Fuller.

∴ The whole proposition is wrong. Neither Mrs. Fuller nor Mr. Bennett nor any other teacher should give time for gum chewing.

Q. E. D.

WOULDN'T IT BE QUEER IF

James de Forrest were a Spruce instead of a Burch?

Gladys were an Egg instead of a Hamm?

Lillian were a Scale instead of a Gill?

Helen were a Hostler instead of a Sadler?

John believed in Tyranny instead of in Justice?

Hilda were a Red instead of a Blue?

Elsie were a Grocer instead of a Butcher?

Harold preferred Garages instead of Barnes?

Mary were Green instead of Brown?

Harry were a Holy Roller instead of a Baptist?

Herndon were a Cowboy instead of a Shepherd?

Dean used Arguments instead of Quarles?

Mary were a Puzzle instead of a Riddle?

THE MIDWAY SETBACK

PERSONALS

Miss Jo Culin has been walking to school every day since Mr. Lacy told her it reacted favorably on the complexion. She has noticed a decided improvement lately.

Spontaneous combustion occurred in the Chemistry Laboratory a few days before exams. Isabel Shaffer thought coaching meant boring a hole and pouring in knowledge. The discovery that this was not the case caused a severe explosion.

The students of Midway High School wish to express their appreciation of the sympathy and kindness shown them by the Faculty both during examinations and on their report cards.

Miss Ruth Davis was detained in the Detention Hall for forty minutes and forty seconds Tuesday. As usual, the cause was talking.

Mr. James Stuart Fitzhugh recently returned from Crabtree Falls, where he spent many laborious hours trying to discover why the Crabtree fell.

Sir Edward Jenkins is now touring his native country, England. He is accompanied by his most esteemed friend, the Duke of Mixture.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Magruder, formerly Miss Sally Moniac, left last night by submarine to spend their honeymoon in the vicinity of Reno, Nevada.

Miss Elizabeth Gordon, of Gordon Avenue, is spending a few days in Gordonsville.

Miss Moran spent several very enjoyable 40 minutes at the Lynchburg and Covington basket-ball games, where she chewed gum with the rest of us.

Mr. John Justice is indisposed for a few days, due to a minor collision between his Kiddie Kar and the Crozet Bus while he was on his way to the Ragged Mountains.

Miss Hilda Blue is now residing at Green Cove, where she is writing for the Red Book and The Yellow Journal.

FOR SALE—WANTED—LOST AND FOUND

NOTICE—Virginia Dawson's first book of verse, "The Lay of the Last Chicken," is now on sale at all bookstores.

COACHING in Proportion offered. Why a tree is to its shadow as a doughnut is to its hole; fully explained.—W. E. Lacy.

FOR SALE—All varieties of dead languages. Apply to J. R. Mort.

WANTED — Legible handwriting for Mr. Lacy. Science Classes.

FOR SALE—A fine lot of gesticulations for use in English classes. Mrs. R. M. Fuller.

WANTED—Someone to teach me how to talk to two girls at once. F. J. Daniels.

WANTED—A substitute for work. J. D. Q.

WANTED—A plausible excuse for an argument. M. McB.

FOR SALE—Large supply of second-hand chewing gum. Apply at desk in passageway.

NOTICE—Beginning June 1, I will conduct a fully equipped Library in the G. A. A. stand. Old magazines a specialty. Take advantage of this marvelous opportunity for light reading during the hot weather. P. Beard, Librarian.

FOR SALE—Collection of empty Dorines large enough to start an enterprising person in the Junk Business. Honor Committee.

FOR SALE—Complete line of Fuller brushes. "The bristles never come out." R. M. Fuller.

THE ACHAIN

HIS MIND WANDERS. WHERE?

Mr. Bennett, intending to write, "War on land continued," actually wrote, "Land on sea continued."

GO GET HIM, ROTES!

Mr. Hayes informs us at a Senior meeting that the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs help cripple children.

DO TELL!

Miss Gochnauer says: "I don't like that girl. She's always flirtin' with Mr. Daniels."

HORRORS!

Jack('s) son said that Hamilton was badly pricked by a Burr but he didn't give A-dam(s).

WHOOPEE!

Mr. Lacy says, "I shall now knock the H out of HCL."

AND HE'S A LETTER MAN

Postman: "This letter won't go for two cents, it's too heavy. You'll have to put on another stamp."

Tootsie: "Aw, come on; another one will make it heavier."

PATRONS' DAY

Visitor: "How many students work here?"

Isabel: "About half of them."

MEBBE SO

Mr. Lacy: "How many natural magnets are there, Griffith?"

Wilton: "Two."

Mr. Lacy: "Name them, please,"

Wilton: "Blonde and brunette."

THE CHAIN

WITS THAT BURN(S)

Tennie's Son: "If Ivanhoe sells for a dollar, what is Kenilworth?"

Poe Shelley: "Great Scott, what a novel question."

SHIVVER MY TIMBERS

Mrs. Sanders (Eng. IV): "Have you done your outside (parallel) reading?"

Joe Shumate: "No'm. It's been too cold."

HIGH AND DIZZY

Mr. Daniels: "George, your recitation reminds me of Quebec."

George: "How come?"

F. J.: "Built on a bluff."

GOING DOWN

Mr. Bennett: "German marks are very low."

Harold Barnes: "No lower than mine."

VEGETABLE MATTER

Tomatoes are red,
Turnips are blue,
Cucumbers are green
And Snapps are too.

SHOE! FLY, SHOE!

"Big Foot Michie": "How much are your four-dollar shoes?"

Cullen (who is now just across the street from his old stand): "Two dollars a foot."

HE WHO LAUGHS LAST, LAUGHS LAST

Mr. Lacy had written at the top of an experiment: "Please write more distinctly."

Pupil (on following day): "Mr. Lacy, what is this on my paper?"

THE CHAIN

GRIN AND BE GRINNED AT

Mrs. Fuller says: "Laugh and the class laughs with you; but you stay after school alone."

PEOPLE WE SHALL NEVER FORGET

Our friend who was cut in the laboratory.
Our friend who was shot in the boiler room.
Our friend who punctured his filter paper.
Our friend who bent his forceps.
Our friend who broke his mortar and pestle.
Our friend who cracked his metre stick.

THE MILLENNIUM

When Mr. Mort stops breaking desks,
When teachers cease to give us tests,
When Mr. Hayes stops making jests,
Then I'll begin to work I guess.

DID CUTIE BURGESS SAY THIS, TOO?

My girl she is a chemist,
I think that I will drop her;
For when I take her out with me
My silver turns to copper.

HOW TIME FLIES

Mr. Bennett (History IV-B): "Can some one tell me when the election of the President takes place."

Stupid: "The first Monday after the last Tuesday in November."

VANITY FAIR

Edythe Adams(looking for a library book): "Has anybody seen anything of 'Jane Eyre'?"

Elva: "Don't know her. Is she one of the February entrance freshmen?"

C. H. S. VERSION

S. A. M. (to Senior Class) : "All of you who wish to go to Heaven when you die, please stand up."

Up rose Pollard, Staley, Jimmy Leitch, Wilton Griffith, Cutie Burgess, and all the rest with the exception of J. Dean Quarles.

S. A. M. : "Why, Dean! Don't you wish to go, too?"

Dean : "Yes, ma'am ; but not if that bunch is going."

NEW REGULATIONS FOR PERMITS

All requests for leave of absence on account of toothache, severe colds, headache and such, and on account of being needed to drive the family to Crozet, must be handed to S. A. M. before nine o'clock on the morning of the game.

BUY AT HOME!

Teacher : "Get your pencil and paper, as I'm going to give you a written lesson."

Bertha : "Haven't got any pencil or paper."

Raymond : "Or brains."

Wilton : "That's simple. You can buy the pencil and paper at Jarman's and the brains at Carter & Snyder's."

NOTICES

Regular L. L. S. eating to-day.

C. B. L. S. meeting to-day. Bring eats.

Evidently a literary society marches on its stomach.

Senior meeting to-day. Very Imp.

Yes, they take after the president.

LAST BUT NOT LEAST

The Annual Staff sincerely hopes that when the snapshots are printed Bertha Cleland's will be considerably reduced, as they are greatly in need of space.

THE CHAIN

WHAT WE WOULD SAY IF WE HAD THE NERVE

"May I run across the street and take a smoke, Miss Moran?"

"Which do you like best, Mr. Bennett, 'Stacombs' or 'Hair Groom'?"

"Please tell us some of your 'funny' jokes, Mr. Hayes."

"Has Clarence finished dressing yet, Miss Eisenberg? Can he play with me?"

"Please don't drag your feet, Mr. Lacy, if you persist in riding the saw."

"Don't we play Rio at Hong Kong some day next Wednesday, Mr. Daniels?"

"Mr. Snapp, won't you please grow sideburns and a goatee for us?"

"Won't you sing us a Carroll, Mrs. Sanders,—one from Kipling, if you don't mind?"

"'Tain't fair, Miss Boaz, you have too many beaux."

"Were you in the bowling tournament at Bolling Green, Miss Bolen?"

"Miss Brown, you are as brown as a brown-eyed Susan."

"Miss Sheppe pines for her Donald and sometimes she balsam. Spruce up!"

"Mrs. Fuller has an advantage. She gets her complexion at wholesale prices."

"Miss Dawson, 10763 Dawson's Row."

"Won't you bring us a bushel of cracked corn, Miss Hankins, to eat in Latin class?"

"Miss Scribner does her World's Work in the Atlantic Monthly."

"Miss Sloan, do you manufacture hair tonic, shoe polish, or Lumbago liniment?"

"Dr. Johnson, may we pull down the shades and sit on the dictionary stands?"

"Tell us your secret for permanent curls and china blue eyes, Miss Meredith."

"Suttonly we won't be good, Miss Sutton."

"Did you inherit your ear for music, Mr. Mort, or did you get it by beating the drum?"

"Miss Camper, when you come to a low door, what do you do with your head, 'Bennett'?"

"Mrs. Brown, why didn't you speak to me in the Ten-Cent Store yesterday?"
